

DELAY COMPENSATION

ABSTRACT

Delay compensation is described. A clock signal used to generate a transmit clock is obtained. Clock cycles are counted to provide a count signal associated with external device latency. The count signal is captured responsive to the clock signal.